MISINFORMED ON ASSESSMENT LAW

"Just as a matter of information for your readers," said Congressman Bartlett to a Bonanza representative, "I wish to say that there is a wrong impression extant regarding the doing of assessment work. It does not have to be completed by midnight of the 31st of December. If a man starts his work before that time and continues it through January until he has done the required amount of work, his title to the property is still valid. Many people think it has to be completed by that time, but they are wrong. Begin it by December 31, and complete it in January, and all is well."

TOO MUCH MONEY IN CHICAGO BANKS

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—New factors in the banking situation came to light today, which served to make January 1, 1908, loom up as a day of cheer. It was learned that unusually large payments of semiannual interest would be ready for depositors next week. The bulk of the 60-day withdrawal notices given by savings depositors when all the institutions of the country went on a partial certificate basis fall due tomorrow and Monday.

But a canvass of the savings banks shows that a preponderating percentage of the aggregate of filers of such notices have either cancelled or been paid. It was shown that on October 28th there were about 3500 notices served upon the various banks, and the total number of depositors in Chicago was about 380,000.

Individually and collectively the State institutions have more money on hand than at any time in their history. Hence they will rather welcome withdrawals, since that will mean a saving of interest to the bankers.

SIXTY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR.
NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—A depositor's account of $1148 in the Knickerbocker Trust Company, which suspended during the recent October depression, was sold at auction today for $688, or 60 cents on the dollar.

ENTOMBED MINERS TO AID THEMSELVES

WILL REMOVE MUCK PILE WHICH IS OBSTRUCTING EXIT.

It is probable that the three entombed men on the 1000 level of the Alpha shaft of the Giroux company will be put at work shortly on the bottom of the muck pile which obstructs the manway, and will be able to aid materially the top workers in the endeavor to free them from their surroundings. This is the statement of Foreman J. A. Gallagher of the Veteran, who yesterday stated that he had discovered an air flow from the manway which would lead him to believe that it was not clogged to any great extent, says the White Pine News.

The air, confined for weeks in the manway, Wednesday night hissed through an opening made by a miner, proving that the time when a rescue of the men can be effected is not so far in the future as was at one time thought. Ten feet below the 500 level the miners are doing their utmost to lend aid in their escape from the depths. Their purpose will probably not be attained for at least two weeks.

One danger above all others stares them in the face. Cave below the piled up muck and timbers on which they are working will render them helpless to cope with the existing disaster and may throw the workers down to the bottom of the shaft.

In speaking of this danger, Gallagher said: "Unless cave-ins in the shaft beneath by men come, there is little danger of their meeting disturbance. We have for several days been awaiting the settling of the mass of cordwood placed in the original slide. This was slow in coming. It was expected in two days, but took more than ten to materialize. To forestall any further movement of the ground back of the fill, we placed thirty additional cords of wood in the opening. The shaft has been strengthened for a distance of forty feet above the original cave-in."

The one danger which confronts the workmen as they proceed is that the timber from the shaft, carried down by the first cave, in being moved, shall cause another movement below the place where the men are working, and bring down the ground into the shaft from under the original cave. There is little danger of this, and in a few days the miners at the Giroux will be able to handle the work necessary to liberate the three entombed men without the aid of the Veteran crew.

BREAKS LEG ON RAWHIDE CLAIM

D. A. Shannon, a well known contractor of Reno, was seriously injured while working in a tunnel on a claim owned by him at Rawhide yesterday morning. A telegram was received by the family at noon stating that Shannon had one of his legs broken and was otherwise injured and that it would be impossible to bring him to Reno for treatment.

John Beatty, a business associate and friend of the injured man, left for Rawhide last night to care for Shannon.

Shannon left here several days ago for Rawhide to take orders for a portable house manufactured by a local company in which he is interested. While at Rawhide he became interested in the district, did a little prospecting and found a claim which he started to work. It was on this property that he met with the accident yesterday. Though no details were received it is believed he was struck by a boulder.—State Journal.

STAGE LINE IN TROUBLE.

The K-C Stage Company operations were suspended temporarily the latter part of last week, owing to difficulty with Frank Golden of the Nye and Ormsby County Bank, but later resumed its regular schedule. The matter will come to issue in the next district court and promises to be bitterly contested.—Churchill Standard.
